

Adams, Demos Feud Over Lag On Ike's Program

Rayburn Angry
At Charges by Presidential Aide

By United Press

The administration and Democratic congressional leaders feuded today over whether Congress is "lagging" on President Eisenhower's legislative program.

Speaker Sam Rayburn reacted angrily to a charge by Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams that Congress is not moving speedily enough.

"I rather think we know more about laying out a program and enacting it . . . than he could possibly know," Rayburn told newsmen.

"I don't think statements like the one he made are very helpful to the administration's program."

Adams, first assistant to the President, said in a televised interview Sunday the administration thinks "it is high time in the interest of the American people that the Congress ought to devote itself to picking up this program and doing something about it."

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson attacked the administration for talking out of "both sides of its mouth" on the economy issue. He called on Eisenhower to side publicly either with the "spending wing" or "economy wing" of his party.

Administration leaders spoke up in defense of the President's budget and against cuts made in it by Congress.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson attacked as "unwise" a 100-million-dollar reduction made by the House Appropriations Committee in funds requested to operate the acreage reserve of the soil bank in fiscal 1958. He said the administration would wage a House floor fight to have them restored.

And two other administration leaders opened a fight in the Senate to salvage a 50-million-dollar appropriation to finance an experimental flood insurance program. Housing Chief Albert M. Cole and Flood Insurance Commissioner Frank J. Meistrell urged the Senate Appropriations Committee to restore the funds, which were rejected by the House.

WAVE OF FIRE—Forest fire in its most awesome manifestation is shown in this picture, taken near Willsboro, New York. Flames are shown "topping" — racing through tops of trees — in a stand of timber. Rains in eastern states have helped fire fighters to bring under control temporarily the majority of blazes, but officials caution that nothing but an all-out soaking will end the tinder-dry condition of woodlands. Destruction to timber and property will total in "billions" of dollars, according to estimates of forestry officials.

Harrisburg Business Association Says Geodetic Group to Arrive

The Harrisburg Businessmen's association today announces a Geodetic Survey party, in charge of Commander William N. Martin, is scheduled to arrive in Harrisburg later this month and work in the Harrisburg area until sometime in July.

The survey party consists of 28 civil service personnel and an advance building party of five men is expected to be in Harrisburg Monday, May 20, with the others due shortly thereafter.

The survey party will set up at the Taylor Field parking lot.

The party is coming to Harrisburg to establish precise survey stations in this area. These survey stations, called triangulation stations, are part of a network of thousands of similar stations which are placed from 4 to 10 miles apart throughout the United States. They may be likened to master stations since they provide highly accurate and permanent survey stations which are used to control other less accurate surveys. They form a rigid basic framework for all maps, charts and boundary locations of the country. Surveys of this nature have been made for over 100 years in all parts of the United States. The work is undertaken at the request of Federal, State and local agencies for use in mapping, boundary location, and in connection with many types of heavy engineering projects, such as construction of highways, railroads, bridges, airports, flood control, land improvement, and development of natural resources. While these surveys are primarily for peaceful purposes they are essential to the military in time of national emergencies for the defense of our country.

Actress Linda Christian Weeps At Death of Spanish Auto Racer

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Copper-haired film star Linda Christian wept hysterically Sunday night when she learned that Spanish Marquis Alfonso de Portago — the man she might have married — was killed in an Italian road race. The Hollywood beauty who was once married to actor Tyrone Power saw part of the race, and she gave De Portago a farewell kiss at 11 a. m. at the checkpoint of the Mille Miglia in Rome, halfway point of the classic race around Italy.

She boarded an airliner to Milan near Brescia and arrived there smiling and without knowledge of De Portago's death. Her smile faded when she saw the serious faces of newsmen waiting at the airport to greet her and was replaced by a look of disbelief.

"Please tell me the truth," she said.

Her mouth fell open at first in disbelief and then in horror. She broke into sobs. Friends took her by the arm and led her to a secret hiding place near Brescia where she was spending the night.

The Spanish nobleman was married to the former Carol McDaniel, 35, of Charleston, S. C., and was reported planning to divorce her so he could marry Miss Christian.

The marquise left her apartment in New York in tears late Sunday and took off for Italy with her daughter, Andrea, 6. Her son Tony, will stay in New York.

A half dozen or more volunteer trucks have been secured and the city street department will furnish two more in hauling away debris collected by the residents of the city.

Mayor Gibbons asked all persons to put their debris in containers so that the debris can be hoisted into the trucks easily.

He also said that persons should place the containers near the edge of the street so that they could be easily spotted by those on the trucks.

Shawnee Hills Ass'n Meeting at Golconda May 20

The May meeting of the Shawnee Hills Recreation association will be at Golconda high school at 6:30 p. m. Monday, May 20.

Irvin Peithman, Southern Illinois University specialist on Indian culture in southern Illinois, will be guest speaker. He has written many articles on Indians and a book titled Echoes of the Red Man.

Rex Karnes of SIU, who has been assisting the organization for nearly a year, announced he expects to have the brochure advertising the scenic and historic points of interest in southern Illinois ready for distribution to each county for completion.

Reservations to the meeting should be sent to William Rottman of Golconda by Thursday, May 16.

Chip Work on Streets Begins, is Halted by Rain

The city's 1957 rock and chip program for unpaved streets got started this morning but was halted abruptly by rain after about an hour and a half of work in the north part of town.

Many of these stations are placed on public property, such as parks, schools, or along highways. Generally it is necessary to place them on the tops of hills in order to observe on stations several miles away. Oftentimes the station site selected is on private property and it is necessary to rely on the public spirit of landowners to allow the survey party to establish the station on his property. Since the work is very valuable for the orderly development of the area, most people are quite glad to cooperate. It is the policy of the Coast and Geodetic Survey to establish stations on property only when permission has been granted by the owners.

It is a distinct advantage to a property owner to have a triangulation station mark on or near his property. The property corners can be perpetuated if he has his local surveyor make measurement connections from them to the triangulation station mark. It then becomes possible to replace the corners very closely in years to come even though all surface marks in the vicinity are destroyed. Because of this characteristic, all of our Federal and State boundaries are connected to these marks.

George Dennis is Certified to Chicago Music Festival

George Dennis, son of Atty. Trafion Dennis and Mrs. Dennis of Harrisburg, was one of four from southern Illinois certified to the Chicago Music Festival following the Music Under the Stars event at Carbondale Saturday night.

George, a pianist, was the youngest of the four who will play in the big event in Chicago from the southern Illinois area. A freshman at Harrisburg Township high school, he is 14 years old.

He was accompanied to Carbondale by his parents and by his music instructor, Mrs. H. N. Jarvis of Harrisburg.

The selection he played at Carbondale was Fantasia Impromptu in C-Sharp Minor by Chopin.

Olney Man Takes Daughter from Ex-Wife's Home

OLNEY, Ill. (AP)—Robert Artz, 33, today posted $2,000 bond on an Iowa charge of stealing one of his two children from his divorced wife.

Artz, an attorney and oil promoter, said he took Debbie, 3, from the porch of his ex-wife's home at Des Moines, but Bobby, 7, wouldn't come with him.

Polk County Sheriff Omar Beardsley at Des Moines notified Justice of the Peace Allen Welker by telegram of the child-stealing charge, and said extradition proceedings would be started against Artz.

Artz said he would fight extradition.

"I want my day in court in Illinois in my home town where people know the situation," Artz said. The custody of the children is clouded by two divorces, Artz said, and he hoped to resolve the issue in Illinois courts.

He said he obtained a divorce in Illinois courts Jan. 14, 1957, on grounds of adultery and the custody question was left open.

His wife, Artz said, obtained a divorce on charges of mental cruelty in Nevada later that month and was awarded custody of the children there.

Artz said his wife and children left his home here in October after her present husband, Wilburn Joiner, sold him an airplane.

Debbie's disappearance Saturday touched off a three-state kidnap alarm when the mother charged Artz with stealing their daughter.

Warrants were issued in Des Moines on charges of child stealing against Artz and a man identified as Don Cotton, Calyton, Mo., a private detective.

Artz said here that Cotton was not with him when he took Debbie. Artz surrendered Sunday night at the Olney police station and appeared before the justice of the peace today.

Debbie is staying with his mother, Artz said, and "we're getting along famously."

Seven Children Die in Flash Fire

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—An overflowing oil stove was blamed today for a flash fire which swept a three-story frame dwelling, killing seven children—the eldest 5 years old.

Dead were the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Davis—alone when the blaze broke out Saturday afternoon—and two of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Martin.

INTO HIS OWN BACKYARD—"How close can you come?" this boy in Waterloo, Indiana seems to be asking, as he looks at the derailed box cars which came to a halt about 50 feet from his front door. The derailed cars tore up about a quarter of a mile before coming to a stop. (NEA Telephoto)

Broken Levee Sends Wall of Water Into Town

Five-Inch Rain
Gives Dallas Third
Flood in Three Weeks

By United Press

A 10-foot wall of water destroyed 90 per cent of Lampasas, Tex., a town of 5,000, and Dallas and Fort Worth suffered from new floods today.

An elderly man drowned and a woman was missing at Lampasas where the water came so fast merchants chopped holes in the ceilings of their stores to escape.

A broken levee sent the water swirling into Lampasas in the midst of a cloudburst of nearly seven inches.

A gas main burst into flames in the center of town and firemen fought in chest-high water to put it out.

Ward Lowe, publisher of the Lampasas Dispatch, reported the flash flood Sunday night destroyed about 90 per cent of the town. By morning, the water was draining away.

A five-inch rain Sunday gave Dallas its third flood in less than three weeks. More than 100 streets were closed by water and 250 persons were forced from their homes.

Storm Danger Alert
Fort Worth suffered local flooding. Some residents in the suburb of Richland Hills rushed from their homes Sunday, fearing a flood.

The Weather Bureau alerted parts of north central and northeastern Texas and sections of Oklahoma and Arkansas to severe thunderstorm and tornado dangers until 4 p. m. today.

High winds reaching 80 miles per hour and tornadoes accompanied the rain storms in Texas. One tornado hit Crawford, near Waco, causing property damage but no injuries. Numerous funnel clouds were observed in northeast and west - central Texas during the night.

Flood waters also threatened in Louisiana. The rising Red River swamped some homes and farmland near Brouillette, and authorities feared some 150 homes would be flooded before the river begins receding.

Fog Over Midwest
A freak hail storm in southwestern Oklahoma piled up a solid, one foot thick sheet of ice over a half square mile area near Altus. Hail the size of marbles accumulated in frozen drifts along an area one mile wide and 10 miles long. Hail storms also battered sections of Iowa and Colorado.

Week-end rains were welcomed in New England, dousing raging forest fires that caused an estimated 10 million dollars in damage. Authorities said rains Saturday and Sunday virtually ended the threat of more blazes in fire-blackened sections of Massachusetts and other northeastern areas.

Fog over parts of the Midwest during the night was blamed for a car-bus crash that killed four members of a Blairsville, Pa., family along the Ohio Turnpike. All of the victims were in the car, a station wagon. Two persons aboard the Greyhound bus were hospitalized with injuries.

Normal Life Expectancy

Disclose Operation in Which 'Watch Spring' Is Inserted in Woman's Heart

DETROIT (AP)—A team of surgeons today disclosed a remarkable new operation in which a "watch spring" was inserted in a woman's heart.

The patient, Mrs. Mabel Streeter, 34, was operated on April 5, 1956, and has carried the metal spring in her heart for more than a year.

The operation, another development in the rapidly expanding field of heart surgery, is designed to correct a condition known as "mitral insufficiency," in which the mitral valve of the heart fails to open and close properly.

The new technique was developed by Drs. James H. Wible, Lyle F. Jacobson, Prescott Jordon Jr., and Charles G. Johnston of Wayne State University's college of medicine.

Prior to her operation, doctors gave Mrs. Streeter, a mother of five, about six months to live. They now hope she may have a normal life expectancy.

Once bedridden much of the time, Mrs. Streeter, a slender woman, said she now feels "fine," does most of her housework and cares for her children, ranging in age from 2 to 14.

She is the first person in history with a metal spring in her heart.

Three years ago when the team of surgeons conceived the idea of a mechanical aid for the mitral valve, they looked around for the right type of metal, something that wouldn't corrode, break, or lose its tension, and would last a lifetime.

"We wrote to the Elgin National Watch Co. and asked them about the metallurgical properties of watch springs," Wible said.

Thomas R. Green, Elgin's technical director, informed the doctors that the patented alloy used in the "unbreakable" spring would last an estimated 300 years, retaining its tensile strength and its resistance to corrosion.

The surgical team visited the Elgin plant and, working with Elgin technicians, finally came up with an odd-looking spring with a diamond-shaped "head" and a two-inch "handle."

When introduced into the heart, the spring is encased in a nylon "stocking" stitched to the spring with silk suture. The entire device is imbedded in the mitral leaflet which opens and closes to allow blood to flow through as the heart beats.

The surgeons performed the operation on 110 dogs before trying it on a human being.

Wible said the operation is relatively simple.

"It takes only about 10 minutes or so to insert the spring," he said.

LI'L ABNER

ALLEY OOP

The Brush

BY V. T. HAMLIN

THE STORY: During the siege of the gendarmerie at Seknou, off Tunisia, telephone lines were cut. But Allan Larg suggests to Captain Billon that other lines on the island are working and perhaps they can be tapped.

XVI
"Colonel! Wake up! You're the first colonel I've ever awakened with my foot!"

"Brisebarre? Four o'clock already?"

"No, more than half past. The party's due to begin in less than an hour. Here, have some hot coffee. Your idea was a wizard one. We've improved on it, though: we've brought a line back right into the Gendarmerie, and we've been listening in from here. We got a conversation about 2 o'clock, and they're going to attack this place at a quarter past five."

Billon was sitting at his office desk listening to the telephone, with a pencil in his hand. He waved to Allan, put his finger to his mouth, and then jotted down some more notes on a pad of yellowish official paper in front of him. Then he beckoned to Ali Aga, who was standing beside him, to take over the instrument again, and came over to Brisebarre and Allan.

"They are going to attack simultaneously at 5:15 a. m.," he said. "The Seknou men are commanded by Kassim Mourali, and he got his orders in Berber. The Seknou men are to scale the wall with ladders from the north and west, from the direction of the town and out of the lane, while the Areg men rush the front—doors and windows—and climb the wall on the hospital side. The actual signal is to be the blowing of a horn—a ram's horn, I should guess. And they will have men on the roofs of the houses opposite, and the hospital, I suppose in order to fire on us here—to give covering fire to the men who are assaulting."

Allan thought a moment. He didn't want to interfere, but it seemed to him that all the advantages now lay with the defense.

"May I ask what orders you have given already? You haven't used the searchlights yet, have you?"

"No. They're old, and they work off their own batteries; if we use them too soon they will go out just when we need them most. But they are all in working order, because we tried them out yesterday by daylight. The only orders I have given is for everybody to keep absolutely silent, so as not to give away their positions."

"Splendid," said Allan. "I know you are in command, and I am ready to obey all your orders, but I've got one or two ideas."

"You are a soldier of great experience; I am a political officer. It is tactical skill that we need now. I would be very interested in your suggestions."

"Thank you. With your permission I will speak to Monsieur Brisebarre in English, and then there will be no possibility of a misunderstanding. . . . Brisebarre, they are counting on two things—surprise and the fact that they will be attacking on all fronts at the same time. They've lost the surprise, and we are on the inside and can fight outward in every direction. When they start shooting they will be killing each other."

"Right," said Allan, when Brisebarre had finished. "Now we've got a surprise for them up our sleeve. Everybody remains in hiding behind the balcony until Captain Billon gives the word; and then, just before the assault, we turn on the searchlights, all at once. It will throw them into confusion, and blind them, and we can shoot either a few as an example, or dozens if they're coming on like a lot of dervishes and really have to be given a bloody nose."

"But what about the garden walls?" objected Billon. "The searchlights cannot reach behind the garden walls."

"I've thought of that," said Allan in French, and went on in English to Brisebarre: "that's an advantage too in every way. We move the two searchlights on the garden side of the house inward, so that they shine inside the garden."

Brisebarre translated, and Allan began to answer, but Billon shut him up, saying to Brisebarre:

"And add this. It will be no pleasure to me to kill these people. When the ram's horn blows, I will switch the searchlights on. And then I will speak to them through the megaphone there—he nodded in to a corner of his office—"and I will give them one more chance. If they come on then, I can kill as many as may be necessary. But I give you my word of honor as a French officer, not one man more than is absolutely necessary."

Allan went to wake Mollie so she could take the women to a safe place.

He gave her a hand with the job, helping Sister Marie-Angelique to climb the stairs, and giving a hand on a second trip with the voluminous belongings of the dispenser's family. The erstwhile Smashing Blonde was even beyond tears now; she had aged 15 years in 24 hours. Her gentleman friend bestowed her in a corner with a sort of contemptuous affection, and then came over to Allan with the air of one opening a deal on the black market.

"I understand, Monsieur," he said, "that fighting is likely to begin shortly. I suppose there isn't a spare rifle to be had, eh? I can no longer hope to fire very successfully from the prone position"—he glanced down at his enormous tummy—"but I can still shoot around corners. And I have done the War of '14."

Corinth East

Only New Oil Pool During April

SPRINGFIELD — Corinth East in Williamson County was the only new pool discovered in Illinois during April, the State Geological Survey division reported today.

Another pool, Corinth North, has been discovered in Williamson County so far this year. Previously the county had no commercial oil production, the division said.

In addition to the new pool discovered in April, there were eight extensions to pools. They were two to Goldengate North Consolidated in Wayne County, and one each to Sorento Consolidated in Bond County, Inman West Consolidated in Gallatin County, Dale Consolidated in Hamilton County, Clay City Consolidated in Jasper County, Reservoir in Jefferson County and Dundas East in Richland County.

The division said 178 wells were completed in April, an average of 45 a week, compared with an average of 80 a week in April 1956.

Oil production has fallen off slightly, the division said, but is holding up "remarkably well" considering the big drop in the number of new producing wells being completed. April production was estimated at 6,800,000 barrels.

See Floor Fight In House on Anti- Picketing Bill

Final Action on Speed Limits is Slated in Legislature

SPRINGFIELD — Sponsors of a bill to ban "organizational picketing" by labor unions promised a floor fight today to rescue the measure from an unfavorable committee vote.

The House Industry Committee voted 25-16 Wednesday to send the bill to the floor with a recommendation that it "do not pass." Such a recommendation kills a bill unless formal objection is filed.

Rep. Harold Widmer (R-Freeport), sponsor of the bill, filed a formal notice that he will ask the full House when it convenes late today to overrule the committee recommendation. Rep. Robert Casey (R-Aurora) said he would join Widmer in the fight.

Unless Widmer can get a majority of the House to vote with him against the committee recommendation, the bill will be killed.

Senate Action on Speed Limits

The bill would ban picketing by labor unions where the unions do not represent a majority of the employees of a firm or where no actual dispute exists between an employer and his workers.

Also on the legislative calendar this week, Gov. William G. Stratton's proposal for a fixed speed limit law is slated for final action. The bill has already passed the Senate but is expected to run into stiffer opposition in the House.

Before final action in the House, the Senate bill will be amended to provide a night time limit of 40 miles an hour for trucks over 8,000 pounds. As it stands now, the bill sets a day and night limit of 50 miles for these heavy trucks.

Purpose of the amendment is to provide a greater difference between the truck limit and the automobile limit to make it safer for cars to pass trucks.

The bill sets a 65-mile-an-hour limit for cars during daylight hours and 55 miles at night. Trucks under 8,000 pounds would be limited to 55 miles day or night.

Ceremony Held at Grave of Mother's Day Founder

By United Press
The nation's mothers, feted at family gatherings and showered with treasured remembrance, basked in their one day of yearly glory Sunday.

A special ceremony was held in Philadelphia at the grave of Anna Jarvis, a spinster who founded Mother's Day in 1908. A wreath containing 49 carnations was placed on Miss Jarvis' grave.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower marked Mother's Day by attending services at Gettysburg Presbyterian Church, accompanied by British Field Marshal Montgomery, a week-end guest of the nation's first family.

The President will remain at his Pennsylvania farm for a birthday dinner tonight for his mother-in-law, Mrs. John Doud.

Among the happiest mothers was Mrs. Lindwood Findley, 32, an Arlington, Va., housewife, who was named "Mrs. America" Saturday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Like many other mothers, Mrs. Findley was served breakfast in bed by her husband, an Air Force officer.

"Longest war in American history" refers to the war with the Seminole Indians, which began in 1835. The Florida Seminoles did not make their peace with the United States government until 1934.

Actor-Director Erich Von Stroheim, Dies of Cancer

PARIS (AP) — Erich Von Stroheim, 71-year-old actor-director who was Hollywood's "demon Prussian" of the 1920's, died of cancer at his country home near here Sunday night, it was reported today.

Von Stroheim, who had been bedridden for nine months, died at 9 p. m. in Maurepas. His artist-wife, Denise Vernac, was at his bedside when the end came.

Von Stroheim made his name in Hollywood films about World War I, in which he customarily appeared as a stiff-backed Prussian officer.

Before World War II, he had left Hollywood for Europe, where he appeared in such films as "Grand Illusion." His most recent American appearance was in the movie "Sunset Boulevard," with William Holden and Gloria Swanson.

Student Pilot Killed as Plane Plunges Into House

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The body of an Oregon State College student, whose rented plane exploded over Portland, plunged through the roof of a house here Sunday, narrowly missing two persons inside.

The victim was Willis Allen Wood, 19, of Salem, Ore. His body plunged through the roof of a house owned by Fred G. Thomson, landing within a few feet of Thomson and his 10-year-old daughter.

The plane was rented by Wood from Kriebitzger Air Service in Salem. Witnesses reported that the plane made some sputtering sounds and then exploded, scattering wreckage over a 12-block area. Cause of the crash was not determined.

Benson Denies Reports He Plans To Quit Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson said today there is no basis, so far as he knows, for several recent reports that he will soon leave President Eisenhower's Cabinet.

"I've never worried about tenure in this job," he added in a news conference with members of the Newspaper Farm Editors Assn. The group opened a two-day meeting here today.

Benson assailed as "unwise" a House Appropriations Committee cut of 100 million dollars in his proposed budget for the acreage reserve section of the soil bank program. He said his aides have conferred with House members of both parties, seeking to reverse the cut on the House floor.

Air Force to Reopen Case of General Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has agreed to reopen this week the sensational 31-year-old court martial case of the late Gen. William L. (Billy) Mitchell, called by many of his admirers the "father of the U. S. Air Force."

A spokesman said the Air Force Corrections and Review Board will begin reviewing the case Tuesday.

Mitchell was court-martialed in 1926 by a board of nine Army generals following his vigorous fight in support of his view that air power should be the first line of America's defense.

He was charged with insubordination after he had accused the Army of incompetency and inefficiency and urged creation of a separate air arm. Mitchell, who at the time of the case held the permanent rank of colonel, was suspended from his rank, command and duty and deprived of pay and allowances. President Coolidge modified the sentence to allow Mitchell half-pay.

Many of Mitchell's views were regarded as visionary at the time but later turned out to be correct. He was one of the first to say battleships could be bombed and sunk by aircraft. He also believed future wars would be decided in the air.

Sentenced for Bank Robberies

CHICAGO (AP) — Howard John Hansen, 38, Princeton, Ill., today was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison for two bank holdups.

He still faces charges in three other bank robberies in Wisconsin and Illinois.

Federal Judge William J. Campbell imposed the sentence when Hansen changed his plea to guilty in holdups at Triumph and Poplar Grove, Ill.

His mother, Mrs. Mabel Hansen, and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Moran, Princeton, burst into tears upon hearing the sentence.

The sentence was imposed for the $14,406 holdup of the First National Bank at Triumph June 5, 1956, and the $4,755 robbery of the Poplar Grove State Bank Aug. 26, 1955.

Spanish Nobleman, American Co-Pilot
10 Others Killed in Italian Auto Race

Marquis' Racer Catapults Into
Group of Spectators

BRESCIA, Italy —Italian road racing appeared doomed today in the wake of the deadly finish of the Mille Miglia 1,000-mile race, which claimed 12 lives, including Spanish nobleman Alfonso de Portago and his American co-pilot, Eddie (Gunner) Nelson of Beloit, Wis. The Spanish marquis' Ferrari suffered a blowout near the finish of the classic road race Sunday, struck a milestone and a telegraph pole, and then catapulted into a group of the three million spectators who formed a "human corridor" along the dangerous course.

In addition to De Portago and Nelson, who was a member of the United States' four-man bobsled team in this year's world championships at St. Moritz, Switzerland, five children and four men also were killed in the accident.

It was the worst automobile racing catastrophe since 1935, when 82 persons died in the flaming crash of a Mercedes car during a race at Le Mans, France.

In the 24 runnings of the Mille Miglia, 30 persons have been killed and more than 100 injured. Because of its bloody history, the road rally became known as "the race of death" in recent years.

And all over Italy today newspapers joined in an editorial chorus calling for its end.

In the crash, De Portago's body was cut in half by the car's hood, the official Italian police report said, and Nelson's head was crushed.

Another driver, Dutchman Josef H. Goettgens, died in a Florence hospital of injuries received when his Triumph skidded off a wet road in a second, unrelated accident.

Piero Taruffi of Italy, driving a red Ferrari similar to De Portago's death car, won the race with a winning time of 10 hours, 27 minutes and 47 seconds. Germany's Wolfgang von Trips was second. Akton Miller of Whittier, Calif., and his co-driver, Doug Harrison, dropped out of the race only 190 miles from the start. Their entry was a Chrysler and was the only American-owned car in the race.

De Portago and Nelson were in third place and battling for the lead when the crack-up occurred. Only a few hours earlier, the dashingly Spaniard screamed to a stop and stood up in his cockpit to embrace movie actress Linda Christian, who ran down the road to his car.

After this brief stop, De Portago gunned his Ferrari onward — to death.

Reds Defeat Cubs Twice
For 12 Straight Victories;
Braves Win 2 from Cardinals

By United Press

The Cincinnati Redlegs, who lost the pennant on the road last year, wound up the most successful trip by a National League team in 33 years today with a conviction that home is where you make it.

In a whirlwind tour of five cities the Redlegs accomplished the following:

—Scored 12 straight victories to equal their modern club record and achieve the longest winning streak in the majors in four years.

—Ran to 14 a string of road games without a defeat — three short of the major league mark set by the 1916 New York Giants.

—Made up the 5 1-2-game gap which existed between them and the Milwaukee Braves on April 28 to return home tied for first place.

The Redlegs "made it an even dozen" Sunday when they whipped the Chicago Cubs, 7-5 and 7-1, with Raul Sanchez and Don Gross each picking up his second victory and Frank Robinson driving in four runs with six hits during the course of the doubleheader. The Braves, meanwhile, kept even by sweeping the St. Louis

Cardinals, 4-2 and 10-4. Bucs, Phils Split

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-1, after losing their seventh straight decision, 6-2, in the opener and the Brooklyn Dodgers downed the New York Giants, 5-0, in other National League games.

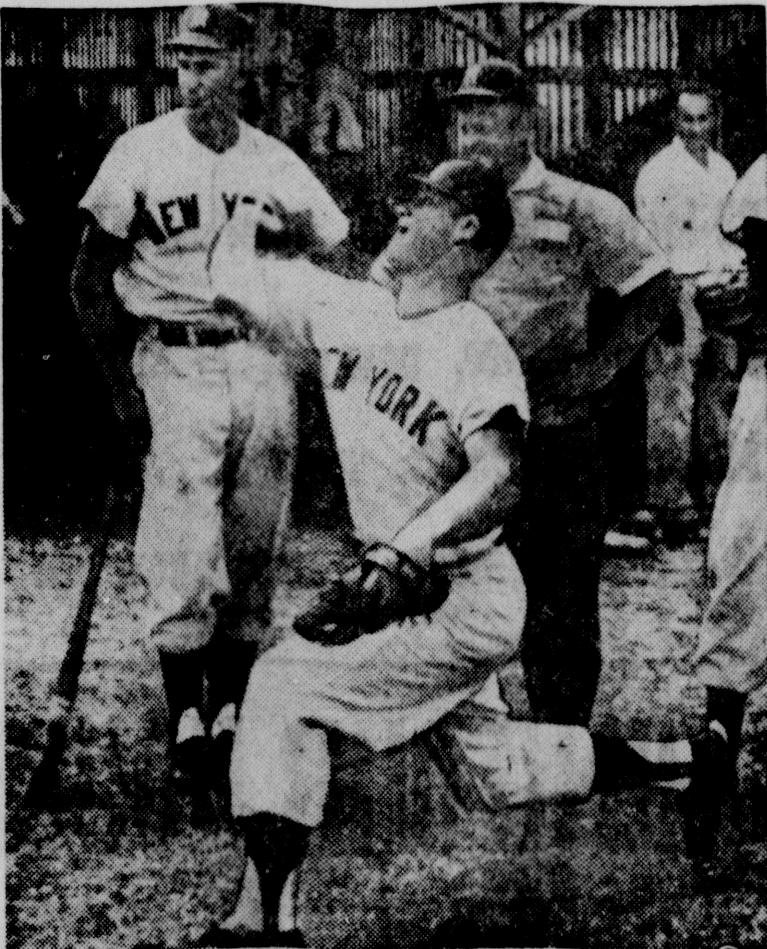

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox held first place by a half-game with a 5-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers while the second-place New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3. The Cleveland Indians scored a 7-4 victory after the Kansas City A's won their opener, 9-2, and the Washington Senators rebounded from a 10-0 defeat to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 6-2, in other A. L. games.

Hank Aaron had two hits in each game and drove in five runs as the Braves worked over eight St. Louis pitchers. Lew Burdette spun a six-hitter for his fourth victory and Taylor Phillips won the nightcap in relief of Red Murf.

Johnny Podres turned in his second shutout of the season and Duke Snider homered to help the Dodgers snap a four-game losing streak.

NOT FOR HALF-PINTS.—"Pop" Maynard, 85, knuckles down for an attempt at the annual British marbles championship at Tinsley Green, England. The veteran marbles player is shooting for a prize that separates the men from the boys: a firkin (72 pints) of strong ale.

MICKY ON THE MOUND.—Apparently not content with being the American League's most valuable player, Mickey Mantle demonstrated his pitching prowess for appreciative audiences, including Tommy Byrne, left. A sprained ligament below the ankle stopped this and Yankee's slugging, too.

THE OLD PRO

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Bluegill, Crappie Fishing Good

By Pete Brown

From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Crappie and bluegill fishing throughout Southern Illinois continues to be good but the big bass are apparently on spawn.

The biggest reported bass catch of the week went to Carmi's Bob Williams, who pulled a six and one-half pounder out of Little Grassy on a Helldiver.

The Little Grassy crappie catch is up considerably, with Bob Kelly, Cobden, accounting for 55 well-proportioned fish in two trips. Black and fat, the crappie ranged from three-quarters to a full pound. Some fishermen, working the brush with black eels and a Heddon Sonic-dumbbarn combination, have netted some bass. The lake is dingy, but clearing.

The Crab Orchard crappie catches continue to run good sized, and catfishing on both bank and trotlines has varied from good to excellent. Outside of some carp and bowfin, angling in the quiet water below the spillway has produced mostly small to medium-sized fish. However, Harry Goetz, Carbondale, using a yellow popper on a fly rod, caught nine bass there, ranging from one and one-half to three pounds, and released several others.

Lake Murphysboro's bluegill and redear fans are out in force and their seasonal persistence is being rewarded, as usual, with some fine strings. Out bait on trotlines has lured a few unlucky channel cats, the best of which went a little over 26 inches.

"Steady" is the word for the crappie and bluegill harvest at Horseshoe Lake, where the water temperature is inching toward the 70 degree mark. Minnow fishermen are picking up a few small bass.

Lake Benton and Moses Lake are in good fishing condition, and both are producing good to fair catches of crappie and bluegill. Bass activity at Moses has slowed, and with a 71 degree temperature reading there is little doubt about where the fish are.

Water turbidity continues to discourage Carbondale reservoir fishermen although the hopes for a good year have not diminished entirely. They're in there, and a flock of them — local enthusiasts will tell you — are real heavy-weights.

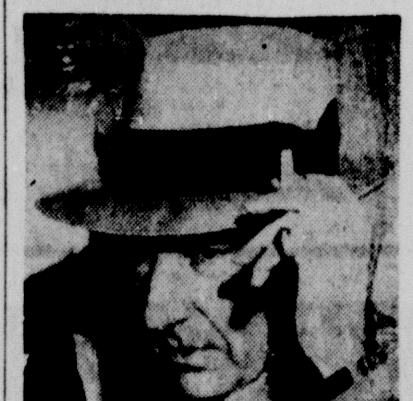

The newly opened Hilyn Lake, between Zeigler and Royalton, is yielding some crappie and bluegill as well as 10 and 11 inch bass. An abandoned coal mine lake, it is now commercially operated by the owner, Hiley Harris, who charges $1 per fisherman.

The 33 acre lake was last stocked with gametfish 10 years ago and hasn't been opened to public fishing for three years. Conservation department officials estimate that it contains about 8,000 pounds of excess population.

Sahara Lake continues to offer a variety of satisfying play, with bluegill, nice ones, affording most of the action. One of the week's best catches went to Jay Piercy, Benton: 60 averaging 10 ounces.

Texas has 56,000 miles of oil pipelines—33,000 miles of trunk lines and 23,000 miles of gathering lines.

The order of the Purple Heart was established in 1782.

VFW Beats Mt.
Carmel, 9 to 8

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team won its third game of the season and its second straight Oil Belt Baseball League game when it polished off the Mt. Carmel Moose club 9-8 on VFW field.

The game ended in a dramatic touch when the VFW was trailing 8-5 going into the bottom of the ninth. Bob Dallas beat out an infield hit, Logsdon doubled and Dick Romonosky hit a long home run down the left field line.

The VFW team got 17 hits with Dallas, Griffith and Romonosky leading the way with three hits each. Logsdon, Stout and Gulley had two hits each and Wallace and McNew got the other hits. Raymond Tonazzi, Don Wallace and Bill McNew pitched for VFW and allowed only five hits between them but shoddy support and several walks allowed the visitors 8 runs. Dick Romonosky handled all three pitchers nicely.

Flash Griffith and Bill McNew made the outstanding plays for Harrisburg and Shorty Holcomb and Voight made the best plays for the visitors.

Next Sunday the VFW will play the Springfield Tigers in another Oil Belt League game. The game is scheduled for Harrisburg.
